CANDIDATE INFORMATION BROCHURE

This is a welcoming school where pupils are known and celebrated as individuals, Ofsted 2024

About our School

Our school is at the heart of the local community providing education, experiences and opportunities for children aged 4-19.

We consider ourselves one big happy Newfield Family. We believe what makes us unique is the expert way in which we create a needs-led provision matched to each pupil's key learning needs.

We pride ourselves on providing a set of learning experiences across a child's time with us which places the needs and the abilities of the learners at the heart of provision and planning. It is based on outcomes we want the pupils to achieve at each key stage of their learning journey.

We allow our children to lead the learning at each key step of their journey, and our common principle throughout is to think about how we can help them achieve the maximum independence and meaningful skills for life beyond the classroom across each stage of their learning journey and in preparation for adulthood.

We achieve this by applying the principle of never doing anything for a child that they can, could or should do for themselves.

Every day our pupils amaze us with what they achieve, and we ensure we set our expectations high for all of them. To us there is no such phrase as 'I can't' - we just say 'You can't yet... so let's find a way together'. As a result of this attitude our students make progress beyond expectations.

We believe the key to our success lies in the fantastic knowledge, passion and commitment of the experienced staff team. Nothing happens in isolation and everyone's contribution is valued. Our knowledge of each pupil's needs and focus on developing learning shines through all we do.

This team approach extends to our families and other agencies, so we can agree on the most effective ways to support our pupils to reach their potential. In its truest sense we work using a team around the child and family approach.

As the Headteacher I feel incredibly proud of what we achieve together. Our pupils are an inspiration to us all, and enrich our lives daily.

Letter from the Headteacher

February 2026

Dear Applicant

Thank you for requesting an application pack. I hope that the information will be useful and assist you in deciding whether to apply for the post of Teacher.

We are a forward thinking and innovative school and we pride ourselves on meeting the needs of our children and their families. We already have a dedicated and hard-working team and together with the pupils, parents, staff and governors, we continue to develop and provide exemplary practice and achievement.

Well-being and professional development for all staff is a strong feature of the school and should you be successful we offer:

- a full induction and training package
- specific mentoring and training opportunities to develop expertise
- a full induction year package for ECTs

The school has achieved many externally validated accreditation and awards, including our re-accreditation for autism through the National Autistic Society, the Inclusion Quality Mark and Rights Respecting School Award through UNICEF.

You can find out more about our school and its achievements by visiting our website; www.newfield.org.uk where I am sure many of your questions will be answered. However, if you wish to speak to someone personally, then please contact email recruitment@newfield.blackburn.sch.uk and we will arrange for someone to call you back.

We want motivated employees who will enjoy the challenge of a whole school effort to continue our work. If you feel that you would like to be part of this exciting professional challenge, we would like to hear from you.

Good Luck!

Rachel Kay
Head Teacher

'Newfield School is committed to safeguarding and protecting the welfare of children and vulnerable adults as its number one priority. This commitment to robust recruitment, selection and induction procedure is shared by all staff and volunteers of Newfield School'

Reference Guidance

When applying for any role at Newfield School whether it's a casual role or a permanent one, you will need to provide two referee details.

Your first referee needs to be your current (or most recent) employer. The details we require are:

- The name of your current line manager or HR department
- A telephone number of the organisation
- An email address which contains the organisation's name rather than a personal email address. For example, john.smith@blackburn.gov.uk and not johnsmith87@yahoo.com
- If you are currently working in a school establishment then the Headteacher should be the referee

Your second referee can be another previous employer or a character referee. The details we require are:

- The name of your referee
- The referee's relationship to you
- The referee's telephone number
- Character referees should be someone who can talk about your personal qualities such as a coach, client, teacher, or colleague.

Some further notes regarding referees:

- If you have not worked previously then you can provide the details of your most recent place of education. As with employer referees we would expect the email address to contain the educator's name.
- You should speak to your referees prior to providing us with their details
- Once we have requested details from your referees we will chase them once, after that it is your responsibility to chase your referee to provide us with a reference.
- If no reference has been received, or unsatisfactory references have been received, Newfield School may revoke your offer of employment.

What is a Right to Work document?

A right to work document approved by the Home Office falls into one of two primary categories:

List A - these documents are evidence that you have an unrestricted and permanent right to work in the UK.

List B - these documents are proof of a temporary or partially restricted right to work. These are split into two sub-groups to determine the point at which your new employer will need to recheck your proof of right to work, because of time restrictions on your permissions.

List A:

A full UK passport that confirms your British nationality.

A passport, national identity card or a Registration Certificate showing that you are a national of a European Economic Area (EEA) country or Switzerland.

A permanent residence card issued by the Home Office as a family member of an EEA or Swiss national.

Biometric Residence Permit indicating you have the right to stay indefinitely in the UK.

A passport showing you are exempt from immigration control.

Immigration Status Documentation issued by the Home Office, showing your right of abode or the ability to stay indefinitely in the UK - along with a document showing your National Insurance number and name.

Birth certificate or adoption certificate issued in the UK or the Channel Islands alongside a document showing your National Insurance number and name.

Certificate of registration of British citizenship.

List B:

Group 1:

A passport showing you're allowed to stay in the UK and carry out the type of work in question.

Biometric Residence Permit (see above).

A residence card issued by the Home Office, confirming you as a family member of an EEA or Swiss national, or who has a derivative right of residence.

Immigration Status Document containing an endorsement of your right to live and work in the UK, along with proof of National Insurance.

Group 2:

A Positive Verification Notice (PVN) issued by the Home Office, which indicates that you can stay in the UK and carry out the work in question.

A Certificate of Application that's less than six months old (along with a PVN).

Application Registration Card confirming you can take the employment in question (along with a PVN).

What if I have an expired passport or can't provide the relevant documents?

There are exceptional circumstances where an employer may still offer you work if you're unable to produce the relevant documents at that particular time.

Employers can contact the Home Office Employer Checking Service to verify your right to work if you:

Are able to produce a Certificate of Application, an Application Registration Card (see List B - Group 2) or an application to extend or vary your permission to work in the UK before the expiry date.

Your employer will be given a Positive Verification Notice to confirm your right to work, but they must repeat the right to work check process after six months.

Checking EU, EEA, or Swiss citizens' right to work has not changed, even though the UK has now left the EU. Nationals can still use their passport or National Identity Card until 30th June 2021. From then on, new immigration rules will apply.

Employers should check current passports, visas or travel documents which haven't expired, where possible. However, if someone doesn't have a current passport then employers can accept expired documents as evidence of their right to work in the UK.
