

SEN information Report and Local Offer

What are the similarities and differences and what are schools required to publish

The SEN Information Report and the Local Offer are separate entities. The SEN report, similar to the SEN policy, is produced by the school. The Local Offer is produced by the Local Authority and not the school. However the school has editorial rights to alter the published information as it changes or needs revision.

What the law says

In February 2014 the DfE published advice on the statutory policies and documents that governing bodies and proprietors of schools are required to have by law.

The School Information Regulations 2012 require the governing body of a school to publish on its website or elsewhere online, an annual school information report for SEN.

The Children and Families Act 2014, section 69 states:-

1. This section imposes a duty on –
 - a. the governing body of maintained schools and maintained nursery schools in England and
 - b. the proprietors of Academy schools
2. A governing body or proprietor must prepare a report containing SEN information

The revised SEN code of practice (DfE April 2014) states:-

'The governing body of maintained schools and maintained nursery schools and the proprietors of academy schools MUST publish information on their websites about the implementation of the governing body's or the proprietor's policy for pupils with SEN'.

The information published should be updated annually and any changes to the information occurring during the year should be updated as soon as possible. The information required is set out in the Special Educational Needs and Disability Regulations 2014.

The School's SEN Report

This is technically a written annual account of things that have been achieved or completed. It records the implementation of the school's policy, not what the school aspires to achieve.

What must the SEN report include?

The revised code of practice (2014), (Para 6.79) and other regulations above set out the information that must be included in the SEN report. These include:-

- the kinds of SEN that are provided for
- policies for identifying children and young people with SEN and assessing their needs, including the name and contact details of the SENCO (mainstream schools)
- arrangements for consulting parents of children with SEN and involving them in their child's education
- arrangements for consulting young people with SEN and involving them in their education
- arrangements for assessing and reviewing children and young people's progress towards outcomes. This should include the opportunities available to work with parents and young people as part of this assessment and review
- arrangements for supporting children and young people in moving between phases of education and in preparing for adulthood. As young people prepare for adulthood outcomes should reflect their ambitions, which could include higher education, employment, independent living and participation in society
- the approach to teaching children and young people with SEN
- how adaptations are made to the curriculum and the learning environment of children and young people with SEN
- the expertise and training of staff to support children and young people with SEN, including how specialist expertise will be secured
- evaluating the effectiveness of the provision made for children and young people with SEN
- how children and young people with SEN are enabled to engage in activities available with children and young people in the school who do not have SEN
- support for improving emotional and social development. This should include extra pastoral support arrangements for listening to the views of children and young people with SEN and measures to prevent bullying
- how the school involves other bodies, including health and social care bodies, local authority support services and voluntary sector organisations, in meeting children and young people's SEN and supporting their families

- arrangements for handling complaints from parents of children with SEN about the provision made at the school

Additionally from the children and Families Act 2014 schools must also include:
Para 69 (3) the School Information Report

- a) such information as may be prescribed about the implementation of the governing body's or proprietors policy at the school with special educational needs;
- b) Information as to:-
 - I. the arrangements for admission of disabled persons as pupils at the school;
 - II. the steps taken to prevent disabled pupils from being treated less favourably than other pupils;
 - III. the facilities provided to assist access to the school by disabled pupils
 - IV. the plan prepared by the governing body under paragraph 3 of Schedule 10 of the Equality Act 2010 (accessibility plan)

THERE IS NO SET FORMAT FOR THIS REPORT. Schools are autonomous in their choice of how to present the information. However, paragraph 6.80 (SEN Code of Practice 2014) states that:-

'6.80 The above should include arrangements for supporting children and young people who are looked after by the local authority and have SEN.

This information should be easily accessible and written in clear straight forward language.'

The information report must also contain contact details of the school's policy, including the name and contact details for the SENCO and the person to which any concerns should be addressed.

The information report should also include information on how the school's curriculum has been adapted to make it accessible to pupils with SENs or disability.

The Local Offer

The local offer is not the same as the information report and should not be used as a substitute for it on a school's website.

The local offer is rooted in the following primary legislation and regulations:-

Legislation:-

Sections 27, 28, 30, 32, 41, 49, and 51-57 of the Children and Families Act 2014
Equality Act 2010

Regulations:-

The Special Educational Needs and Disability Regulations 2014 (Part 4)

Local authorities must publish a Local Offer, setting out in one place information about provision they expect to be available across education, health and social care for children and young people in their area who have SEN or are disabled, including those who do not have Education, Health and Care (EHC) plans. In setting out what they 'expect to be available', local authorities should include provision which they believe will actually be available. (Para 4.1 SEN Code of Practice 2014)

The Local Offer must include provision in the local authority's area. It must also include provision outside the local area that the local authority expects is likely to be used by children and young people with SEN for whom they are responsible and disabled children and young people. (Para 4.4 SEN Code of Practice 2014)

Local authorities must publish comments about their Local Offer received from or on behalf of children with SEN or disabilities and their parents and young people with SEN or disabilities. (Para 4.21 SEN Code of Practice 2014)

The Local Offer must include information about:

- special educational, health and social care provision for children and young people with SEN or disabilities – this should include online and blended learning
- details of how parents and young people can request an assessment for an EHC plan arrangements for identifying and assessing children and young people's SEN – this should include arrangements for EHC needs assessments
- other educational provision, for example sports or arts provision, paired reading schemes
- post-16 education and training provision
- apprenticeships, traineeships and supported internships
- information about provision to assist in preparing children and young people for adulthood (see paragraphs 4.52 to 4.56)
- arrangements for travel to and from schools, post-16 institutions and early years providers
- support to help children and young people move between phases of education (for example from early years to school, from primary to secondary)
- sources of information, advice and support in the local authority's area relating to SEN and disabilities including information and advice provided under Section 32 of the Children and Families Act 2014, forums for parents and carers and support groups

- childcare, including suitable provision for disabled children and those with SEN
- leisure activities
- support available to young people in higher education, particularly the Disabled Students Allowance (DSA) and the process and timescales for making an application for DSA
- arrangements for resolving disagreements and for mediation, and details about making complaints
- parents' and young people's rights to appeal a decision of the local authority to the First-tier Tribunal (SEN and disability) in respect of SEN and provision
- the local authority's accessibility strategy (under paragraph 1 Schedule 10 to the Equality Act 2010)
- institutions approved under Section 41 of the Children and Families Act 2014 (Para 4.38 SEN Code of Practice 2014)

In many authorities schools are publishing their own 'School's Local Offer' alongside the LA's 'Local Offer' to meet their duties under para 4.34 of the Code of Practice that requires schools to give more detailed information about their arrangements for pupils with SEN.

Is there information overlap?

Whilst there are significant overlaps in the information required there are distinct differences in the two forms of information even though their content may be similar.
